Singapore education provider offering supplementary maths programme developed in line with the Singapore maths syllabus from kindergarten 2 (5-year olds) to Primary 4 (9-year olds). The programme supports both home schooling and personal tutoring.

MOM and I Everyday Maths programme seeks to encourage and motivate parents to become “hands on” or active partner in their children learning process. By working together with your child as coach and mentor, the programme can help him/her embrace maths without the fear associated with learning the subject while also helping you to develop lasting bonds with your child.

The programme is inspired and developed by a mother who had managed to help her son despite missing school lessons due to poor health to achieve a maths score that any mother can be proud of.

The programme essentially encourages a child to practise his/her maths skills on a daily basis –‘everyday’ (5-day week) while one of the parents act as maths coach and mentor. Through the programme’s lesson plans, parents are taught and guided on how to provide quality maths instructions to their children. The programme is continuously being developed, updated and reviewed to meet new requirements. Reviews and development of programme are done by trained and qualified teachers. Today both mother and child have benefited much from the experience.
